

Truth

This truth will make you free

Religions based on prophets and gods have divided humanity as nothing else in the history of the mankind.

It is time that the truth is realized about our so-called prophets and gods on whom we have based our beliefs and lifestyle.

This is the truth: that albeit there have been personalities in this world who have attempted to create a better society based on goodness and truth, these personalities were neither sent by messengers sent by God, nor God Himself, but simply enlightened Beings who “saw” the truth and tried, each in their own way, to express, set down, teach and preach the truth which they had realized.

Unfortunately, we the masses, the people, who, on the large scale, are relatively far less enlightened, have made of these personalities, gods, masters, prophets, etc. and have appropriated each teaching as the one and only “Way”...

The truth is that God does not become a burning bush, nor does He inscribe His Commandments in stone, nor does He ever become man, nor does He ever die, on a cross or otherwise. He does not take sides in war, nor does He allocate plots of land to a chosen few, nor does He drown His own children in the sea. He does not favour one tribe on nation over another, nor does He punish, kill, or damn anyone...

The truth is that God has already blessed everyone with the Light of His Knowledge and Truth equally and impartially. His truth and knowledge shines in the heart of every living creature as Conscience.

This conscience (or consciousness) is inherent in everyone and does not have to be imparted or handed down by anyone. One needs only to listen to it to come to realise it's there. You do not learn it in a book, nor purchase it through some kind of initiation.

The kingdom of God is not in another place far away, nor is it in another dimension reached only by death. The kingdom of God is right here and right now and it only requires the awakening of conscience to see it.

There is no process to “make” peace. Peace is already there, spread all over the earth. It is fighting that needs to stop in order to see the peace.

Now there is a process to stop fighting – simply put away your weapons, and begin to see your “enemy” as your brother. If you believe in one God then there should be no problem in seeing everyone as your brother. You have no enemies. There are no enemies. There are no borders in Truth. We are all brothers – children of the same Father. And He has no preference of colour, culture, and style of dress. He takes no sides. He has no favourites. We are all His people – His children...

This earth, this body, has been given to us as a gift to express and enjoy the beauty and the Nature of God and it is not “ours” to claim, to keep, to abuse or to injure. We are not going to manifest in this body for very long, so why behave as if these bodies, this earth, this land, were eternal. They are not.

It has been said that our children are not our children (because) they come through us, not from us. So why behave as if they do? Who could say that they know how to actually make a human being? We are simply the vessels, servants to a Nature, which is, and always will be, beyond our comprehension. But we don't have to understand it. We only need to understand that it is a mystery and we are involved in the process.

We create all our relationships. All our relationships are based on the body. In the spirit we have no relationship with each other whatsoever. But we all have the same relationship with the Whole, the One, the Father. Claiming a permanent relationship with our partner, spouse, children, country, etc. is based on this ignorance that we are the body and this land is our land.

Just as there is no relationship between the individual pieces of fruit on the same tree, there is no relationship between each individual soul. And just as all the fruit on the tree has one single relationship with the tree, so too we have one single relationship with the Tree of Life. Similarly, just as the destination of all the fruit on the tree is to be harvested by the owner of the tree, so too our goal is to become "harvested" by our creator, the Self of all, the One God from whom we all come.

And just as the fruit contains the seed for another tree to manifest yet more fruit, so too, these bodies contain the seed which never dies but continues to become yet another body of another colour in another place. This is the glory of God. This is the wonder of His Nature. This is the gift of everlasting Life that we all share...

We are never out of God's kingdom. Never out of His sight. Never out of His hands. He moulds us, changes us, and recreates us in an endless cycle of manifestation. And His kingdom has no end... as it also has/had no beginning.

We can know this truth first hand and beyond any doubt, by listening to our conscience, become conscious of this existence, which is itself a miracle beyond the realm of academic description or explanation.

Many have tried to "explain" creation – how it "began" how it works, what it means, and where we are going. We are where we are going already. We are "here" and "now" now. There is nowhere else to go and there is no reward to get later. Stop running. Stop striving. Stop sacrificing. Yes! Even stop praying! Stop hoping. These are only processes of the mind and based on belief systems which have nothing to do with God. God is not making you suffer. God does not "allow" evil to happen in the world. He has absolutely nothing to do with it.

You don't have to pray for your daily bread. All is provided already. You just have to play this game of work and play and life goes on. It is there for you to enjoy according to your personal efforts. God is already so very close to you and is living inside you as your conscience – your consciousness. Connect with that consciousness. Connect with that and all else will be added/revealed.

There is no higher Truth. There is no higher goal. There is no other way other than to connect with that Truth within yourself and live in that Awareness every moment of your life.

That Living Awareness is your heritage as a human being. The only possession that one can take away. Connect with it and you will be free...
